CRJ 2007/07 SENIOR STAFF APPOINTMENT

Copper Range Limited is delighted to announce the appointment of Mr Ian Garsed as Exploration Manager. He will be based in Adelaide and will lead the group from the Company's new Adelaide Exploration Office.

Preparations are currently underway for comprehensive exploration activities covering the Company's extensive (and recently enlarged) tenement package in the Olympic Domain and the Adelaide Fold Belt.

Ian replaces Garry Baglin who has been serving as exploration manager for Copper Range, and for International Base Metals Limited and its unlisted subsidiary companies. The Board thanks Garry for his excellent contribution to the activities of Copper Range.

Ian assumes the full-time role as a very highly and widely experienced geologist having worked in a range of geological terranes within Western Australia, Queensland, the Northern Territory, South Australia and Canada. His qualifications include a Bachelor of Applied Science (Geology) from the Ballarat College of Advanced Education and a Master of Science (Minerals Exploration Technology) from Curtin University of Technology, Western Australia.

His broad professional and managerial experience, spanning more than twenty years, began in Kambalda, Western Australia where he worked for Western Mining Corporation from 1985 to 1987.

In 1987, he joined Mt Isa Mines' exploration group. After extensive periods in Western Australia and Queensland, he moved to Adelaide as Senior Geologist SA Exploration until he left MIM in 2003 to establish a geological consultancy.

Most recently, he has provided expert advice to client exploration companies seeking Olympic Dam-style deposits in South Australia and Canada, as well as other types of gold and base metal deposits in South Australia and Queensland.

Ian's breadth of experience will be invaluable as Copper Range continues to develop as a South Australian minerals company.

For and on behalf of the Board
